MDiv Field Experience Handbook 2021-2022

WHAT IS LIFE TOGETHER FIELD EXPERIENCE?

Field Experience is the mentored ministry or internship of your seminary education, which is integrated with ecclesial theory and pastoral ethics through Life Together 1 & 2, and engaged concurrently with MDiv Practicum 2 & 3. Mentored by an experienced minister or Christian worker, you have the opportunity to learn about ministry in one or more traditional parish/church and/or specialized ministry settings.

How Many Hours?

The Seattle School of Theology & Psychology requires all MDiv students to take 2 semesters of Field Experience. One semester in Field Experience is 5 hours per week for each week of the Fall and Winter trimesters.

WHO CAN BE MY MENTOR?

The experience requirement for a mentor is five years of full-time ministry. The mentor should hold an MDiv (or MDiv equivalent) and should not currently be part of The Seattle School faculty or staff. Since Field Experience opportunities and organizations vary, ordination of mentors is not required. Check with the Life Together faculty advisor to see if your mentor is approved already or ask the mentor you would like to work with to complete the application form contained in this handbook.

How do I set up a Church or Ministry for my Field Experience?

Part of the field experience begins by listening to your own heart, life and calling from God and pursuing connection with possible Field Experience sites and mentors. Your initiative in forming connections which missionally fit your narrative and calling are part of the process, thus students carry the primary responsibility to make and confirm all Field Experience arrangements in advance of the beginning of the fall trimester. Most Field Experience arrangements within a church setting will be approved. For special or unique situations, we encourage students and prospective mentors to contact the Field Experience Faculty Advisor to verify acceptability of the Field Experience plan.

RATIONALE

The Seattle School has intentionally integrated three components that will give shape to your Fall and Winter trimesters.

Component I MDiv Field Experience. Providing students in practical ministry experience in local church settings while linking you together with experienced pastoral mentors

Component 2 The classroom content of Life Together 1: Ancient Future Church & Worship, and Life Together 2: Relational Ethics for Church & Leadership. This classroom time will provide teaching, readings, and conversation around the theology and practice of church and ministry, including experience facilitating chapel/communion with our learning community.

Component 3 MDiv Practicum. Providing students a space to further explore vocation while processing and exploring how they bring themselves to the ministry context.

REQUIREMENTS

The specific details of each Field Experience are detailed in a "learning covenant" that is developed and signed by the student and mentor, and approved by the Life Together faculty advisor. This document contains the learning covenant form that will aid students and their mentors in articulating the learning and ministry goals. These goals will be shaped primarily by a student's area of interest and personal development with respect to their intended sphere of ministry. Credit for the Field Experience of the Life Together courses is determined by the faculty advisor in consultation with a student's self-evaluation, and feedback from the student's mentor. Students are given either "credit" or "no credit" for their Field Experience. "Credit" is required for passing Life Together.

ALTERNATIVE FIELD EXPERIENCE

The Seattle School understands that some students may wish to pursue field experience either in a different timeframe than stipulated in the MDiv program or away from the Seattle area, perhaps out of state or overseas. If you wish to pursue an alternative internship experience, please see Dwight Friesen well in advance of the application deadline in order to make these arrangements and discuss the implications.

PROCEDURE FOR PARTICIPATING IN AND COMPLETING FIELD EXPERIENCE

Once a student has determined with a faculty advisor when her/his Field Experience will begin and who will serve as mentor, the student will follow these steps:

- I. Prayerfully reflect on your ministry calling as you consider what kind of internship might best serve you along that journey. What kind person do you need as a mentor? What kinds of ministry experience best serve to form you while exposing you to ministry praxis? Invite those who have known you to speak into your life here.
- 2. Take initiative with the pastor(s) you would like to journey with. Explore the pastor's openness, your fit with the mentor/pastor and the church. If you are contacting a pastor of a church where you have not been involved, be sure to visit the church and learn as much about its unique mission and history prior to meeting with the pastor.
- 3. Once you've identified a pastor/church, brainstorm together with your mentor regarding the types of learning experiences you should seek during the Field Experience. Together form your "learning covenant" seeking to balance your hopes with ministry needs.
- 4. Talk candidly with your mentor, inviting her/him to speak into your life, as you seek to discover more of what it means for you to live into your calling. After coming to agreement regarding the learning covenant you and your mentor will plan to meet formally four more times for evaluation purposes (see the attached evaluation forms).

- At the conclusion of the Field Experience, discuss and complete a final self-evaluation with your mentor paying particular attention to perceived areas of change and growth.
- 6. Finally, as you come to the conclusion of your field Experience, consider how you wish to thank and bless the mentor who has invested into you.

Reminder about the MDiv Spiritual Formation Requirement

In order to facilitate continued learning in the space between First Year Listening Lab and MDiv Practicum II & III MDiv students are required to have 10 Spiritual Formation sessions with a Spiritual Director. These sessions are meant to be a time for reflection on vocation, ministry calling, denominational identity, theological perspective and continued exploration of their personal spiritual life. (See the Academic Catalogue for more details).

Prerequisites:

The prerequisites for the field experience are as follows:

- Enrolled in the 3rd year of either the 3-year or 4-year track
- Approved Learning Covenant and Mentor Application
- Taken concurrently with MDiv Practicum III (RLM 530) in the Fall term and MDiv Practicum IV (RLM 531) in the Winter term.

TIMELINE:

Pre-Internship:

- View the Field Experience orientation video.
- Read the Life Together, MDiv Field Experience Handbook.
- Secure an internship that meets The Seattle School requirements.
- Complete the Learning Covenant and Mentor Application (if mentor is not already approved) and submit them to the Academic Office no later than September 7, 2021.
- Register for course RLM 503 with the Academics office.

Internship:

- Fulfill duties and responsibilities as agreed upon in the Learning Covenant.
- Participate in Life Together and MDiv Practicum courses at The Seattle School.
- Record Field Experience hours on the Record of Weekly Ministry Hours for both Fall and Winter trimesters.
- Complete the Fall term progress report and record of Fall ministry hours. Submit through MyCampus as an assignment in your RLM 503 course no later than December 8, 2021.
- Register for RLM 504 with The Seattle School for 2nd trimester of Field Experience.

Life Together - Field Experience

Post-Internship:

- Complete the Winter Record of Weekly Ministry Hours, the Final Evaluations and Final Progress Report.
- Submit these forms as an assignment in RLM 504 by the last day of the term. If continuing Field Experience into the Winter term, submit directly to the Academic Office at The Seattle School by the last day of the Winter Term.

Guidelines for Mentors

MINISTRIES SEEKING AN MDIV STUDENT FROM THE SEATTLE SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY & PSYCHOLOGY

Churches or parachurch organizations desiring to work with The Seattle School students should submit a position description to the Field Experience faculty advisor. A summary of this information will then be posted for students to read. Students will contact the potential mentor directly and arrange for an interview. Care should be taken to ensure that a "good match" is made, keeping in mind compatibility, ministry needs, the student's developmental needs, and particular denominational criteria.

EXPECTATIONS OF THE MENTOR

The Seattle School looks to mentors to provide high quality supervision of the students who are training for various expressions of pastoral Christian ministry. The supervisor is a mentor_one who teaches, models, and enables the student to grow as a minister. This involves active participation with the student and first-hand observation of the student at work. Being a mentor is being a teacher.

While The Seattle School recognizes the needs of churches and Christian ministries to engage students to help in giving projects, emphasis should be placed on the educational development of the student. Students may or may not have skills in certain areas of ministry. Field placement should expose the student to a broad range of tasks and situations to help students gain competence in different facets of ministry, as well as provide experiences that will foster personal, professional, and spiritual development.

MENTORING SESSIONS

Each student must spend at least 5 hours in supervision with the mentor for each trimester (13 week unit), and is to take the initiative in establishing the agenda for these meetings according to her/his needs. The mentor should take an active role in planning for these supervision sessions. This is a time to discuss the student's development and evaluate performance as well as plan for the future. Be willing to share yourself and your life experiences in ministry. Make prayer and reflection on spiritual issues a part of this time together as well.

Titles: Various titles are given to students in their ministry settings. Common titles for students are "student assistant," "intern," "student minister," or "student chaplain."

FINANCIAL CONSIDERATIONS

Students pay tuition for the Life Together course. A Field Experience with remuneration provides a valuable help to students in covering these expenses. Individual needs on the part of both the student and the church must be kept in mind when negotiating financial arrangements. Financial remuneration should be determined at the beginning of the placement and should be included in the learning covenant.

Although remuneration for students is not required, the following guidelines are recommended in cases where regular Field Experience is done:

- Consider a range of $15 to $18 an hour including preparation time.
- Pay necessary expenses, such as long-distance phone calls, meals or coffee dates in connection with ministry, and $0.55 per mile for ministry related travel (per 2018 standard mileage reimbursement rate)

Formal internships (for example, 30 hours per week for at least seven months) normally would offer more pay and benefits in consideration of the full-time nature of the position.

In situations where hourly pay is not possible, many congregations have collected a special offering as a way of blessing their intern at the end of their time with the church.

A Few Recommendations

- 1. Pray for the pastoral student under your supervision.
- 2. Talk openly about your life in vocational ministry: calling, struggles, hopes, disappointments, fears, Shalomic imagination, grounding practices, etc.
- 3. What do you wish you had known or experienced prior to your first ministry placement? Are there ways you could help your pastoral intern be even better prepared than you were?
- 4. Have the student (and their partner/family, if applicable) in your home.
- 5. Share some of your expertise. Have your intern invite a small group of other interns to observe you in action in either leadership, pastoral care, etc and then spend some time discussing how and why, you did what you did.
- 6. Be a student of your intern by noticing the ways they are uniquely gifted for ministry. Draw their attention to the places where you especially see them come alive.
- 7. Consider how you might bless the intern regarding their developing sense of call.
- 8. Help network your student with a goal of ministry placement.

Suggestions to the Mentor for Completing The Field Experience Learning Covenant

When meeting with the student to brainstorm the desired learning experiences, you may want to use the Field Experience learning covenant to aid your discussion. The student will have already met with a faculty advisor to generate preliminary ideas. We believe you will bring wisdom and insight in creating the best training experience for the student in light of your ministry context.

MINISTRY DETAILS

- I. Most field experience takes place over the two trimesters of an MDiv student's third year of study. Some experiences may be more intensive in nature.
- 2. "Primary areas of ministry responsibility" can be understood as a basic job description and should be listed in the learning covenant. These areas might be regularly teaching a class, designing or implementing a program, etc.
- 3. "Additional areas of observation or limited participation" refer to those experiences that are more occasional than identified in Item 2. For example a student may:
  - observe a board meeting,
  - accompany a minister on hospital visitations,
  - preach a sermon,
  - engage in community organizing,
  - lead worship/participate in serving holy communion,
  - observe or assist with a funeral or memorial service,
  - observe a marriage ceremony, etc.
- 4. "Primary learning goals" are focused goals related to the student's own ministry development. In what specific ways might the mentored ministry better prepare the student of leadership?
- 5. "Supervision" describes details of the mentor meeting and evaluation processes. Identifying a time and place for the weekly or bi-weekly mentor meeting will help to make it a regular appointment. The student will need at least 5 hours of personal mentored time during the 13 weeks. Optimally, the student will participate in staff meetings as well if applicable.
- 6. You may choose to give an evaluation form to others to assist in generating feedback for the student. "Lay evaluators" are two individuals selected by the student (but feel free to give recommendations) who can give meaningful evaluation from a non-ministry professional. These could be individuals in lay leadership positions, individuals who receive ministry from the student, etc. This is optional for the student who wishes to pursue their input.
